LATE NEWS.

Yesterday afternoon the ship Pomona, captain Allen, arrived at this port from Liverpool. By this arrival we obtained London papers to the 27th of August. — The expectations of a continental war appear to gain strength daily in England. Bonaparte's writers have commenced their attacks on Austria and Russia. A late Moniteur observes, that the conduct of Austria in keeping up a formidable military force in the Tyrol and Italy, is tantamount to a declaration of war. This force, therefore, must be diminished, or hostilities commence. The French government appears to have abandoned all hopes of preserving peace with Russia. We hear of no measure or expedient which has that object in view; but of restoring a good understanding with Austria, hopes are still entertained, and Talleyrand is exerting all his "diplomatic skill" for that purpose. The prospect of success is faint. The emperor of Germany is prepared for war. Novostzoff had not reached St. Petersburg at the last dates.

Intelligence had been received in England of the departure of the combined fleets from Ferrol, on the 13th of August. No account, however, had been received of their arrival at Cadiz. A day or two after the fleets left Ferrol, admiral Calder appeared off there, with a squadron augmented to 20 sail of the line from Cornwallis's fleet. On finding that Gravina and Villeneuve had sailed, it is possible Calder might steer for Cadiz. There were various rumors as to the command which would be given to lord Nelson. Lord Keith had sailed to the North Sea.

The Paris Moniteur, as might have been expected, has taken the part of the Americans against the orders lately reported to have been given to the British naval commanders.

VIENNA, August 7.

The French ambassador has addressed a note, couched in our government demand in the most insolent terms, in a peremptory explanation of the objects of the warlike preparations going forward in the Austrian dominions, and the extraordinary activity in the military department. The note also demands a peremptory answer, whether it was the intention of Austria to go to war with France; whether any recent treaty had been concluded with Russia, or whether any alliance with that power was on the point of being concluded? The answer of the court of Vienna to these interrogatories was highly dignified. It stated, that the assembling of such large bodies of French troops had rendered precautions on the part of Austria indispensable. All the negotiations with Russia had solely for their object an armed neutrality, and that any more intimate connection with foreign powers must depend solely on circumstances.

Immediately after this answer was given, the French ambassador gave assurances that the greatest part of the French troops should quit Italy.

It is rumored that the republic of Ragusa has applied to be incorporated with Austria, in imitation of the union of Genoa to France.

LONDON, Aug. 26.

Just before this paper was put to press, we received the Moniteurs to the 18th; their contents are of very considerable importance, and seem to decide the question of peace or war between Austria & France. The important fact, that war with Austria is considered as inevitable, is communicated in a note in the Moniteur of the 16th.

Mr. Ellsworth the messenger who arrived on Friday from Petersburg is understood to have brought his imperial majesty's ratification of the treaty of alliance with this country. The immediate accession of Austria to it may be expected, if it be true as generally asserted, that the insolent tone and demands of France have induced the Emperor of Germany to require the execution of a treaty with Russia, by which the two powers bind themselves to assist each other under certain circumstances, with a stipulated force. Russia has willingly and instantly complied with the requisition, and sixty thousand Russians are actually said to be on their march to the Austrian Frontiers.

August 27.

Government was occupied the whole of the last week, and is still employed in taking up a great number of transports. They are probably intended for the conveyance of Russian troops to the Mediterranean, or to any other point where their services may be required; and we learn that a Russian squadron of ten sail of the line is shortly expected to co-operate with us in the North Seas. The transports are to rendezvous at the Nore.

The Russian fleet, of Cranstadt and Revel, consisting of eighteen ships of the line and some frigates, is now cruising in the Baltic.

By a letter received this day from the Channel fleet, it appears that on Wednesday last the French fleet left Brest, and anchored in Camaret Bay. Our in-shore squadron communicated the fact by signal to admiral Cornwallis who immediately led in the fleet to attack them. As soon as his intention was discovered the French fleet got under way and scampered back to Brest; but they did not get in until three of the ships were completely mauled by a raking fire from some of the British ships. They were three in number superior to admiral Cornwallis, but the latter, under the present critical situation of the country, determined to try whether they were in earnest.

The British frigate Phenix of 36 guns, has captured the French frigate Didon of 44 guns, and 300 men, after a severe action of three hours, on the 10th inst. in lat. 43, long 12. The Didon sailed from Ferrol with the combined fleet, and had 150 men killed and wounded. The Phenix has been spoken with her prize in tow.

Sir Sidney Smith has within these few days had several interviews with the board of admiralty. He is immediately to be employed in an important command.

The British have seventy sail of the line in Europe, in service or ready for service.

A late return of the French troops state them at near five hundred thousand.

A letter from Cadiz dated August 19 states, that a new duty of one dollar per barrel has been imposed on all flour imported into the ports of Spain. Cadiz and St. Lucar were rigorously blockaded.

Latest European Intelligence.

We are enabled to lay before the readers of The True American, this morning European Intelligence to the 30th of August from London papers to that date, received by the ship Benjamin Franklin.

Vienna, Sept. 31.

positions in Italy. They are anxious to place a garrison in the cities of Urbino and Ancona, in the papal dominions. They even go so far as to demand the Venetian states as a mortgage from Austria for debts contracted at Milan, Genoa, &c. If things go on in this train, the king of Naples and the Ottoman court will be in a perilous situation. The fate of Austria itself will no longer be doubtful. Europe will then see what has hitherto been considered as a chimerical idea—a universal monarchy established by France.

Two French spies have been arrested at Venice, where they had taken drawings of the fortifications recently completed at that place.

August 7.

Preparations for the renewal of hostilities continue with the utmost activity. It is reported that general Sirach has been sent to the frontiers to conduct in quality of commissary, a body of Russian forces which are to pass through Hungary. The Elector of Bavaria has obtained permission to procure arms from the Austrian States. In consequence of this arrangement, an Austrian armorer has already received orders for making two thousand muskets.

It is stated that Duke Albert will form a corps of volunteers to be specially under his command. There are rumours, also, of the formation of other corps of a similar description. The French spies arrested at Venice have been liberated, though on their persons were found plans of most of the Venetian Canals, with a statement of their depth.

There are at present at the camp of Pettau, 63 battalions of grenadiers.

The disturbances in Egypt continue. — Elphr Bey is arming near Ramanich, to surprise Rosetta and Alexandria. The misery of that country is beyond description.

Our court Gazette of this day contains the following intelligence from Turkey:

"The feuds between two of the most powerful governors of Turkey in Asia; Tshapan Oglu and Tajar Pasha, of Trebissonda, take a very serious turn. A decisive battle has been fought, in which Tshapan Oglu was completely routed. Angora, Tokat, Amasia, and other cities followed the laws of the conqueror, and submitted to Tajar Pasha, who was already known to be a mortal enemy to the Nizai Gedid, and the new military system.

"The 14th of July is the day fixed for the formal introduction of the English envoy, Mr. Arbuthnot; meanwhile he has already had conferences with the Reis Effendi. The large frigate which conveyed him to Constantinople, is returned to the Mediterranean. There are also two English sloops of war in the roads off Bujakdere, having arrived from Malta with a convoy, and a large Russian transport, bound from Corfu to Sebastopol.

General Strauch, who was a member of the Aulic council of war, is sent to Tyrol as an assistant to the general commanding in that province. He has already set off for Inspruck.

HAMBURG, August 13.

All the Danish troops in the territories of Holstein and Schleswig, have received orders to hold themselves in readiness to march. — A Russian courier having brought very important dispatches to Copenhagen, an express was immediately sent off by the prime minister to the prince royal, who was with the princess in the German part of the Danish dominions, requesting his immediate return to Copenhagen. Great movements have been of late observed among the French troops in Hanover; and it is strongly suspected to be the Corsican's intention to march an army into Holstein, and to occupy Gluckstadt, Husum, and Tonningen, so as to shut up every communication with Great Britain, and even to blockade the Sound from the land side. This plan of operations, which is said to have been offered to Bonaparte by general Schauenburg, has received his full approbation; but the court of St. Petersburg having been informed of it, the most positive orders were sent to the Danes to defend the neutrality and independence of their territory.

PARIS, August 5.

For these six weeks past greater preparations than ever have been made at Boulogne for the invasion. Upwards of one hundred and fifty thousand men are assembled at Boulogne and its vicinity. — There are five thousand vessels in the port. The three divisions of the army will be denominated the Scotch, English, and Irish armies. It is asserted, that the fleet of admiral Villeneuve will soon appear off the Irish coast.

August 9.

This day the report is general that the invasion will be attempted.

It is asserted by one party that the combined fleet had advanced to the Channel to drive away the English cruisers, and clear the way for the Bolognese flotilla.

London, August 25.

The latest advices from Bombay, says, that Sir Edward Pellew had taken great pains to make our navy in that quarter more respectable. He had added to our naval strength the Charon and Kaskassao two India ships, which were converting, with all possible expedition, into 44 gun frigates, 18 pounders to be called the lord Howe and lord Duncan. It was also in agitation to convert the Castlereagh into a frigate, to carry the same number of guns. The Tremendous and Grampus were under orders to proceed immediately to the Isle of France, for the purpose of blockading it. It was intended that the blockade should be henceforward constantly maintained, by affording reliefs at proper periods.

The private letters by the mails of yesterday, are more explicit than the printed journals are, or indeed dare to be, respecting the military movements on the continent. It is the general opinion, in the north of Germany, that the fleet in the Baltic is to cover the debarkation of a Russian army, either in the Swedish Pomerania, or the Duchy of Mecklenburgh. If a measure of that decided character were resorted to, we would soon be able to discover what part the court of Berlin would be likely to take in the approaching war. His Prussian Majesty (so say the continental politicians in the French interest) is determined not only to adhere to his system of neutrality, but to maintain the tranquillity of the north of Germany, and to take such measures as may prevent it from being made the focus of war by any power whatever.

If such be the determination of that Prince, the sincerity of it is likely to be soon put to the proof. It is said that a categorical answer has been demanded of his Prussian majesty by the Emperor Alexander, as to the line of conduct which he would pursue in case the Russian armies should advance into the north of Germany. What was the nature of the answer, if any has been given, has not transpired; but the preparations of the court of St. Petersburg are continued with the same activity as if she were assured of the acquiescence of Prussia, or regardless of her opposition. If Prussia shall oppose the occupation of Pomerania by the Russian army, she must inevitably be involved in the war; & that the Emperor Alexander has determined to occupy it, is a prevailing opinion in the north of Germany; but whether in consequence of an actual sale by Sweden, or of a temporary cession, arranged for the purposes of the war, is not yet certainly known.

The military situation of Austria has never been more respectable than it is at present. Her efficient army, far exceeding three hundred thousand men, is admirably disciplined and conditioned; and what is no less essential, is animated by a spirit never yet observed in it. All the useless exercise has been abolished; a concise, but much more effectual manual has been introduced; all superfluous baggage, and servants are dismissed, and all officers below the rank of a captain are obliged to march. A system of dress, better suited to the fatigues and inconveniences of a campaign, has been established for the soldiers; they wear their hair short; and all those tormenting minutiae, which however pleasing to the view, added nothing to their strength, are henceforth to be dispensed with. The whole of the Austrian army are eager for battle, and some pains has been taken to infuse into them that ardent spirit.

Some politicians on the continent affect, however, to believe that pacific arrangements are making between France and Austria. The French ambassador was admitted to a private audience by the emperor of Germany on the 3d instant, at the town of Baden, about 15 miles from Vienna, when it is supposed the ultimatum of the Emperor, on the points that have given umbrage, was given to the ambassador, who is said to have offered, that concessions of importance to Austria should be made on the side of Italy. We may observe, however, that such opinions are circulated chiefly in quarters where it is well known the French have their emissaries and propaganda, as at Altona and along the banks of the Maine; and that they accord not at all with the late article in the Moniteur, moderate and considerate as it has been considered, unless indeed the hint about the possible separation of the crowns of France and Italy, is to be regarded as indicative of some proposed arrangement respecting the latter country.

We have already stated that Sir R. Calder, with 20 ships of the line, was again employed in the blockade of Ferrol. If it be true, however, that the combined fleet consists now of 37 sail of the line, the force we have on that station is two small.

Report says that admiral Calder has been recalled; but whether by his own request or by the admiralty, is not known, and that Sir Charles Cotton is to command the blockade. Let who will have the command there we may allow him to watch the motions of the enemy, but as to blockading 37 ships of the line with 20, the thing is impossible!

Indeed it is reported, in our Plymouth letter of this day, that the combined fleet is again at sea; we hardly think this is yet the case—but we see nothing to hinder it; and it will be seen by our extracts from the French papers, that in Paris it is expected "the fleet of Admiral Villeneuve will soon appear off the Irish coast."

Lord Nelson is to have the command of the Cork fleet—Sir Sidney Smith is to be second in command. It is not very difficult, from this arrangement, to divine whether that expedition is destined.

There is a strong report, that lord Spencer has joined the present administration, and that his lordship is to be placed at the head of the admiralty. — He was this day at the admiralty office, in company with lord Nelson.

The French papers are full of reports of the approaching invasion. If we consider the reports in the Paris Journals as tending to prove any thing, we would say, the more confidently they speak of the event as hand, the more confident they will not take place. Bonaparte's policy. He will still be will talk of an excellent army, which he pleases, in a war.

Alexandria Daily Advertiser.
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19.

Notwithstanding the accounts we have recently received of a relaxation in the orders of the British councils, relative to American vessels trading with enemies ships, it will be perceived by the following particulars of the detention of this ship Dispatch, that our commerce is still subjected to the most unwarrantable and injurious depredations.

[Phil. Gaz.]
Dover, Aug. 27.—Eleven o'clock, a. m.
The Furieuse gun-brig, and another brig of the same description, from a cruise to the westward, have just put into these roads with an American ship, which they detained, on suspicion of their having engaged property on board.

An American ship, the Dispatch, of Philadelphia, which has been lying in this harbor these three weeks past has weighed her anchor to proceed on her voyage. This ship put in here in distress, having injured her rudder in striking on the sands off Ostend; she had cleared out from Amsterdam, bound for the river of Canton, as the property of American merchants at Philadelphia. While she was in the act of getting under weigh, an immense crowd overlaid the quays. The boatswain, who was a Swede, and the captain had had some dispute about the former's leaving the vessel, which the latter refused; and upon the boatswain persisting in his purpose, the captain put him in confinement until the hour of sailing. The lieutenant of the Furieuse, at that moment, came alongside his boat, and the boatswain entered himself into his majesty's service. The lieutenant went on board the Dispatch, and after some altercation, brought him off; the captain, however, detained his chest, on the grounds of his being in debt for two months wages and other sums which he had advanced him previous to their voyage from Amsterdam. This vessel was laden with bale goods to a considerable amount, and had a vast quantity of dollars on board which gave rise to the suspicion of her belonging Dutch property. Two American sailors, belonging to a vessel which lay alongside of her in the harbor, offered to swear that they sailed in her on her last voyage home from Canton and asserted most positively, that to their knowledge she was sold by her original owners who were Quaker merchants at Philadelphia to Dutch merchants at Amsterdam. It is also supposed that the boatswain gave a hint to the lieutenant of the Furieuse. The general conclusion is that she must be enemy's property.

"Twelve o'clock, noon.—The Dispatch has just cleared the harbor, and stands on her larboard tack in order to haul her wind. The boat with the lieutenant of the Furieuse is lying to in the Roads, and the other vessel with the other gun brig, and the Americans which they detained, are proceeding to the Downs.

"Half past twelve.—The lieutenant of the Furieuse has again boarded the Dispatch, and having appeared to have examined her papers, he has taken to his boat, and is supposed to have suffered her to proceed on her voyage, she is now standing on her voyage."

"Two o'clock, p. m.—The Fly cutter, capt. Partridge, who left this harbor a few moments before the Dispatch, has hailed the latter, who lay to for him; and the capt. of the Fly has sent his boat on board. A gun-brig which hove in sight about an hour ago, is also come up with her, the three vessels lay to for a short time, and, upon the return of the cutter's boat, they all tacked, and stood in for the Downs. So that it has been ascertained that there are goods grounds for detaining the American as well as the other.

"This is the third American ship which has been detained under similar circumstances, in these Roads, within these last ten days. We understand that a very extensive trade has been carried on by the Dispatch, in this way, for a great length of time.

"It is universally supposed here, that the ultimate destination of the Dispatch was the Cape of Good Hope, and not the river of Canton, and that the quantity of dollars on board, was for the payment of the Dutch troops, stationed in that settlement."

Copy of a letter from Capt. EDWARD YARD, of the sch'r Ariadne, of Philadelphia, dated At sea, in lat. 20, long. 62, September 23.

"It is with pain I have to inform you, that on the 17th, we met with the most tremendous hurricane I ever saw, or any on board, which blew with such violence as to heave us on our beam ends, without an inch of sail, all our top-gallant yards down, top gallant masts launch'd, and the vessel well prepared to meet a gale.— We were under the necessity of cutting away the main mast, and with it went the fore top mast.
She then righted, with her lee gunwale in the water, where she lay 6 or 8 hours. We lost almost every thing off deck, with all our sails except top gallant and steering sails, and foremast.
I have with much labor and difficulty got up jury masts, with all the sail we could muster on them. I hope we shall now be able to reach our intended port. I write by an Alexandria schooner, captain Gilpin, who was fore-god as to spare us a small mast to assist us in making sail."

PARIS, August 17.
Vice Admiral Villeneuve, to the Minister of Marine. Vigo, July 18.

"I am now under way. I leave here 2 Spanish ships, and the French ship L'At-las. These vessels have not suffered much in the action, but they sail badly, and I consider them as rather likely to delay the squadron than to reinforce it.

"I have disembarked here my sick.— The length of the voyage, and the badness of the weather, has caused a sickness among the troops, but those who have nothing but the scurvy, are in no danger, and will soon be restored by air and fresh provisions. I shall set out with 15 ships, of which two are Spanish, and if we have any affair on our voyage to Ferrol, with the squadron we have fought, we have nothing to fear.

"VILLENEUVE."

Rear Admiral Gourdon to the Minister of Marine and Colonies.

"MY LORD. Ferrol, Aug. 2.

"I have the honor to announce to your Excellency, that Ad. Villeneuve and Gravina have this moment anchored at Coruna.
The English squadron re-appeared two days ago: it consisted of thirteen ships of the line, but immediately on seeing the squadron of Rear Ad. Villeneuve, it sailed again. It had, however, nothing to fear from the combined squadron in Ferrol, the wind being west and blowing fresh, which rendered it impossible for us to get out.
We are all animated by an ardent desire to give his majesty proofs of our devotion for him, and our desire of enterprize for the glory of his flag.

Receive the assurances of my respect.
(Signed)

"GOURDON."

The brig Minerva, Brookins, drove ashore on Florida Reefs the 30th ult. and got off with the loss of her rudder and some damage to her keel, but had her rudder repaired.—She was purchased at auction a few days since by the captain for 1030 dollars, and will sail for Charleston on Thursday.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, the time limited for admission of Provisions and Lumber into the different ports of this Colony, from the United States of America in Foreign Vessels, will expire on the ninth day of October next. AND WHEREAS, it appears necessary and expedient that the admission of provisions and Lumber from the said United States in Foreign vessels as aforesaid, should be allowed for the space of three months, I have therefore thought fit, by and with the advice of his majesty's Honourable Council of these Islands, to issue this my proclamation, permitting and allowing the importation of corn, pulse, flour, bread, rice, every species of salted provisions, Cattle and live stock of all kinds, and all sorts of lumber, into the ports of Nassau, Exuma, Turk's Island, Saint George and Crooked Island, as well in neutral as British vessels, for and during the space of three months, to be computed from the said ninth day of October next.

And I do hereby give notice, that if any other articles except those particularly above enumerated, are attempted to be introduced from the United States of America, in American bottoms, measures will be taken for the forfeiture of the ship or vessel, importing the same, and of the goods so imported, in contravention of the laws of navigation.

Given under my hand, and the seal of the said Islands, at Nassau, in the island of New-Providence, this sixteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and five, and in the forty fifth year of his Majesty's reign.

CHARLES CAMERON.
By his Excellency's command,
JOHN MC CARTNEY,
Dep. Sec.

September 25.

Arrived, on Wednesday, from Abaco, the wrecking vessel Brothers, Sawyer, by which we learn, that on the night of the 16th inst. the brig William, Russel, from New-York to the Havanna, got on shore on the Elbow, Abaco, where she was discovered early the next morning, by captain Sawyer who, with the assistance of some people at Abaco, after lightening her, got her off. She was loaded with dry goods and household furniture. Captain Russel gave the inhabitants of Abaco 700 dollars worth of dry goods for their exertions, and captain Sawyer has brought some of the household furniture here. She was left at anchor at Linyard's Key, on the 23d inst.
but stated from the damage she has received, while on shore, to be unfit for sea.
The captain seemed determined to try to make the Havanna. The William had 2 Spanish gentlemen passengers, on board.
No lives lost.

The sub-j of hemp having been often named in the Southern papers, the following extract from a letter written by Dr. Franklin is offered to the public notice. Upon a report to the board of Trade in 1772, relative to the inland settlement in America, Dr. Franklin wrote an elaborate answer. The report was taken into consideration in the privy council, and in July their Lordships decided in favor of the petition for the lands on which the settlements were proposed.
The privy council having decided against the Board of Trade, Lord Hillsborough, at the Head of the Board of Trade, resigned in confequence, Dr. Franklin did not give a free circulation of his answer to the report, which has been since printed. In this letter Dr. Franklin observes,—"as to hemp, we are ready to make it appear, that it grows as we have represented, spontaneously, and of good texture, on the Ohio.
When, therefore, the increasing dependence of this kingdom, upon Russia, for this very article, is considered, and that none has been exported from the sea coast American colonies, as their soil will not easily produce it—this dependence must surely be admitted as a subject of great national consequence, and worthy of the serious attention of government. Nature has pointed out to us where any quantity of hemp can be soon and easily raised; and by that means not only a large amount of specie may be retained yearly in this kingdom, but our own subjects can be employed in an advantageous, and paid in the manufactures of this kingdom. The state of the Russian trade is briefly this: from 1722 to 1731, 250 ships were, on a medium, sent each year to St.
Petersburgh, Nizni, Riga and Archangel for hemp. And from the year 1762 to 1772, 500 ships were also sent for that purpose. An increase in ten years of 250 ships. Here, then, it is obvious that in the last ten years there was, on a medium, an increase of 250 ships in the Russian trade. Can it be consistent with the wisdom and policy of the greatest naval and commercial nation in the world, to depend wholly on foreigners for the supply of an article, in which is included the very existence of her navy and commerce? surely not; and especially when God has blessed us with a country yielding naturally the very commodity which draws our money from us, and renders us dependent on Russia for it." We can easily apply this reasoning to our own country.

[Salem Register.]

The following is an Account of the method of making the famous Parmesan Cheese; from the 7th Volume of Young's Annals of Agricult. ture.

"THE time of making the Cheese is about 12 o'clock; and they put together the morning's and evening's milk.—With the milk when cooled is put into the kettle, about the size of a walnut of earnings, which is the stomach of a calf, beat up with salt. When the milk is a little warm, they put a little rennet into the ketle, and stir the milk; this rennet is a d they buy at a furrer's shop, that gives the I melan Cheese the color it has. When the milk warm enough, the kettle is moved off the fire when it goes together, the curd is broke a little, and then the kettle is moved on the fire aga for a minute or two. When moved off again the curd is broke very much, first with an inst-ment like a blunt stick, and then with a bund of Small rods, like what is called a whisk. After the above operation the kettle is moved the fire again, and the curd constantly stirred till it is tough enough for a fute of it to sit together, when laid across ones finger.

The kettle is then moved off the fire, a when the curd goes to the bottom, they press it whey out of it with their hands, which make the curd firm enough to admit of being lifted on-of the kettle, into a vessel of the same sort and size with the bottom of the kettle.

Out of that vessel it is turned over on a flopping table, that the curd may run off from it and when there, a wooden hoop without an cloth is fixed round it. A coarse cloth not unlike hair cloth, is laid on the top, and over it a flouas large as a man can easily lift.

The ends of the hoop are not fixed together, but pass one another a little; & through a knob on one end, is made a hole through which is run a small cord, with a knot on the end of it, which being drawn round the hoop, it serves to tighten and raise it as the cheese dries and sinks below the edge of the hoop.

The cheese remains in the hoop from ten to fifty days, according to its size; and after the second, a little salt is sprinkled on the cheese when it is turned, from eight to thirty days, according to its size.

For that time the cheese lays in a small place of the milk house, which is called the salting house.

From the salting-house, the cheeses are removed to the drying-house, which is fitted up with shelves, and in which is a great circulation of air.—There they lie till sold; which is generally from nine to twelve months; and during that time they turn and rub them every day with a piece of coarse fluff, not unlike a powder puff—if kept longer, they are obliged to scrape them instead of rubbing.—Parmesan cheese is best at three years old."

Departed this life on Thursday the 10th instant, at Shuter's Hill, Mrs. PENELOPE FRENCH, aged 71 years.

Valuable Lands and Negroes FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber desirous of disposing of his distant property, so as to bring his affairs more within his reach and management, offers for sale the following lands and negroes, at prices so reduced as to claim the attention of persons wishing to invest money in such property, viz.

CHATHAM, that elegant and highly improved seat on the banks of the Rappahannock River, directly opposite the town of Fredericksburg, containing about eleven hundred acres, four hundred of which are in wood, and valuable timber, the rest in cultivation, and pleasure grounds.—The land in tillage is level, a considerable part of it has been highly manured, and the whole of it well adapted to the culture of grain, small grain, and Indian corn, as the crop now growing will attest. The house and offices are of brick, and on a large and handsome scale, with a garden in front containing four acres, laid off with taste and well planted with the choicest fruit trees, now in full bearing, and ornamented with forest trees and shrubs of almost every description.—

There is on the estate adjoining the river, a grist mill built of free stone, containing the modern machinery and two pair of stones, one of them French Barre.—It commands a large country cul-tom, is well situated for merchant business, and has rented for five hundred dollars per annum exclusive of all the grain of the farm hoppers free, which is equal to three hundred dollars more.—There are all necessary out houses, for either convenience or luxury, such as ice-house, spring-house, barn, stable, offices, &c. &c. With all these advantages and expensive improvements, this property is offered at a price which the lands alone ought to command. There are also some valuable fisheries, and quarries of free stone on this estate.

Also, a tract of land generally called Clark's, about two miles below Chatham, on the north bank of the Rappahannock river, and within view of the town of Fredericksburg, containing upwards of four hundred acres. About one hundred and twenty acres of this tract is Rappahannock river bottom in cultivation, and is well adapted to Indian corn, small grain, &c. the residue is in wood, surrounding a height, which furnishes a beautiful site for building.

Also, a tract of land in Stafford county, adjoining Stafford court house, containing upwards of twelve hundred acres. This is good farming land, and has several tenants on it.

Also, a tract of land in Westmoreland and Richmond counties, containing upwards of two thousand acres, on which there are also several tenants. These two last mentioned tracts of land will be sold in small tenements, or in entire tracts, as may best suit the wishes of purchasers.

Also, a tract of land called Boyd's Hole, containing about one hundred and fifty acres, on the banks of the Potomac, in King George county, on which there are a comfortable dwelling house, store and tobacco inspection ware house. Few situations combine more advantages, it being an excellent stand for a store, ferry and tavern, the two first of which are at present kept there. The houses have lately been put in good repair, and the buildings alone will rent for three hundred dollars a year. The land is good in quality, and the situation abounds in fish, oysters and wild fowl.

Also, a valuable Site for a Mill, with 50 acres of Land adjoining, in King George county, and not far distant from the last mentioned tract. There has been a mill here for many years which has lately gone to decay, the dam is substantial and entire, and the situation for a country mill not equalled in that neighborhood, commanding a very extensive custom; the land is covered with cedar, which alone renders it very valuable.

Also, several Lots and Houses in the town of Fredericksburg.

Likewise, about two hundred and thirty NEGROES, of different ages, sizes and description. A sale of them by families will be preferred; to effect this they will be offered at a reduced price. As a part of these Negroes are at present attached to the Chatham estate, the purchaser of that property may be accommodated with any number of them, as well as stock of every description.

Bank Stock of any of the Banks in Virginia, Maryland, or the District of Columbia, will be received in payment for any part of this property at a fair price, and bargains will be given, as the subscriber unable to attend to property so distant, is anxious to convert it into stock.

He will also rent a number of FARMS on his Ravensworth estate, containing from 2 to 400 acres each, on encouraging terms, to good farmers. They lay from eight to ten miles distant from Alexandria, George Town, and the City of Washington, and convenient to the turnpike road now building from Alexandria to the upper country.

Any person wishing to purchase, may know the terms by applying to Mr. Thomas F. Page, living near the premises; who is fully authorized by me, to sell the whole or any part.

The lot attached to the house is 63 feet fronting upon Water-street, (corner of Jefferson-street) running into the channel. More ground may be obtained if required.

In the same range, and to the southward of the above, are several Lots, similarly situated as to advantages and prospects, calculated for neat small buildings. A clear title free from every incumbrance will be given upon the payment of the sum agreed for, and a liberal credit allowed if required.
